Hi Chris,

EPA promulgates updates to the National Priorities List typically two times each year, in the spring and fall. Given the comments received, it is anticipated the final decision will come as soon as spring 2016.

In the meantime, EPA has initiated negotiations with potentially responsible parties at the site to enter into a legally binding agreement to complete a comprehensive environmental investigation, known as the Remedial Investigation, at the site with EPA oversight. The purpose of the Remedial Investigation is to determine the nature and extent of the contamination at the site which will assist in developing cleanup options.

As an aside, if you're not already aware, EPA is planning on holding an open house on 8/5. I can pass along additional information if you'd like.

Let me know if you have any other questions. Thanks,
Rob

Is there a timeline for the CFAC Superfund decision?
